

Lowell Courier-Citizen

October 21, 1918

TEWKSBURY

Tewksbury, Oct. 20.

Portions of the old church bell bore inscriptions which could be easily read, when taken from the débris of the recent fire. As time passes all realize fully the loss the town has sustained when the church which was so well equipped burned to the ground.

The efforts of the Ladies' Aid Society in improving this equipment, and now the total loss is, to say the least, discouraging, but without doubt the members will take hold with their usual firm and enthusiastic grip and begin to plan for the future.

M. A. Patten, who has been quite ill since last Sunday, is now slowly improving.

H. M. Billings is also improving.